

FastBale Training Program

KvG Ravenna service department recently ran a service training program for FastBale in preparation for the forthcoming grass season.

Held at Kverneland Group UK premises at St Helens, two separate courses were run for groups attending from the various European markets due to receive machines in readiness for the 2016 season. Aimed at product support staff from Kverneland Group sales companies, the intensive program, spread over two days gave attendees an in depth appreciation of the workings of Fastbale.

Some intense concentration from participants as Kverneland Group Ravenna service manager Peter Heineke makes an explanation from deep within FastBale

Training module equipped with a fully functional FastBale control system allows simulation of the complete operating cycle. This enables course attendees to obtain a really good understanding of the working sequence and various settings